Regency Palms Long Beach Celebrates Family Day with the World-Famous Laker Girls

Long Beach, CA – date - Meridian Senior Living's Regency Palms Long Beach Assisted Living and Memory Care (RPLB) proudly hosted Laker Girls, the all-female National Basketball Association Cheerleading Squad for the Los Angeles Lakers basketball team, at the community's first Family Day celebration. As one of the series of May celebrations, the Family Day was held on Saturday, May 4th at RPLB located at 117 E. 8th Street, Long Beach, CA 90813. Family Day provides a great opportunity to foster strengthening relationships between residents and their families, which is vital to the well-being of seniors.

Causing a splash, the two visiting Laker Girls entertained RPLB residents, families, and staff. Embellished in sparkly, purple and gold uniforms, the two Laker Girls radiated glamorous smiles as they greeted everyone, even the fluffy community pet ambassador, Teddy. The Laker Girls graciously mingled in the crowd, while posing in photographs and signing autographs for the resident fan base. A fun time was had by all.

"The Laker Girls brought a breath of fresh air to our Family Day celebration and encouraged engagement with our residents and families," states Regency Palms Long Beach Executive Director Christine Tomlinson. "The uplifted expressions on the faces of our residents were invaluable among Lakers fans and non-fans, alike."

Special events like this support infusing Meridian Senior Living's "The Wow! Experience®" into the community. As everyone is unique and brings their own individual past and passions, the WOW! is about celebrating people's personalized history and interests. In every interaction and moment, Meridian's staff creates extraordinary experiences and special moments to build a story in the residents' lives. Meridian's collective expertise, combined with an innovative approach, has given Meridian a long and proven history of delighted residents, families and team members.
