
STAR GRILL

BY STEVEN RAICHLEN

STEVEN RAICHLEN

Author, journalist, television host, and lecturer Steven Raichlen is the man who reinvented modern barbecue. Steven's 31 books and four American television series focus on global barbecue and grilling recipes, techniques, and travel. His most recent television series, Project Fire, debuted in July on PBS, and his latest book, The Brisket Chronicles, was released in May. He was inducted into the Barbecue Hall of Fame in 2015. Raichlen's books have won five James Beard Awards and three IACP–Julia Child Awards and have sold millions of copies in 17 languages. He writes regularly for The New York Times and his work has appeared in The Wall Street Journal, Esquire, and a plethora of food magazines. He is also the founder of Barbecue University™ and has lectured on the history of barbecue at institutions such as Harvard and the Smithsonian.
