

Eric Foodim, COO of PrestigePEO, Named Honoree of LIBN Business and Finance Awards

Melville, New York, September 29, 2020 – PrestigePEO, a leading professional employer organization (PEO) that partners with small and mid-sized businesses throughout the United States to deliver full-service HR solutions, is delighted to announce its Chief Operating Officer, Eric Foodim, is an honoree of the Long Island Business News Business and Finance Awards.

Long Island Business News (LIBN) is Long Island's only publication devoted to local commerce. For over 60 years, it's been the premier source of news and data on business, economic trends, and the region's robust entrepreneurial sector. The LIBN Business and Finance Awards honor financial experts whose exemplary performance as stewards of Long Island's corporations, government, and nonprofits have made significant impacts in the region.

"Eric has been instrumental in our efforts to help the small businesses of Long Island and the tri-state area build a more successful future. He's an integral part of PrestigePEO and is well deserving of this distinguished award. We're proud to have him on our team" says Andrew Lubash, CEO at PrestigePEO.

PrestigePEO is honored to have Eric included among Long Island's foremost business and community leaders. Learn more at www.prestigepeo.com.
