Destin Gerek is recognized as a leading voice in masculinity, sexuality, and personal empowerment. He is a Certified Sexologist through The American College of Sexologists International and a graduate of New York University in Sociology with a concentration on Human Sexuality. Gerek has spent the last 20 years furthering his understanding of the effects of toxic masculinity on human sexuality and developing the evolved masculine's relationship to the feminine. Gerek pursued teaching and founded The Evolved Masculine, Inc., a men's coaching and empowerment company that supports thousands of men globally. He is the author of the best-selling book The Evolved Masculine: Be the Man the World Needs & The One She Craves. Utilizing his own unusual path of self-reinvention as a teaching tool, Gerek shares his transformational journey of embracing masculinity, living many years as his alter ego - the self-proclaimed 'Erotic Rockstar' - to eventually establishing himself as a happily married father of two. Gerek aims to guide men into a position of not only supporting and empowering women, but ensuring that men reach their fullest potential in the process. Destin is an international speaker and host of the podcast, "The Evolved Masculine: Redefining Sex, Power, & Success". He has taken the most potent aspects of his bold life experimentation and integrated it into an iconic body of work, directly supporting an innumerable number of men to have better sex, deeper connections to their masculine power, women, and themselves.
