Life is short... Why spend so much of it working?

Working too long increases stress. And your burdens get heavier the longer you carry them. Dealing with customers hour after hour can discourage the best of us.

Why not work smarter and work less? With MailTank, you can be more productive -- without sacrificing quality or the need to serve your customers well. ➡

Work less, without sacrifice? Can it be true? It can if you ride the MailTank.

MailTank's singular MailTemplate function lets you combine form responses with personal ones. You can customize a template - tailoring it to each specific question or customer in half the time it takes to draft a new response for each incoming question.

Our Rapid Reply™ system lets you answer multiple messages at the same time with a single template reply. And before too long, you'll have a library of responses to each frequently asked question. You can easily tweak your answer to make your customer feel connected – the way they never will with a one size fits all reply. ⬇
