Consilience Global Partners' Member Firms Each Receive Prestigious Award from Sage Software

San Francisco, CA—November 16, 2007— Consilience Global Partners announced today that all five member companies have been named to Sage Software's distinguished President's Circle for 2007, a distinction given annually to business partners and national consulting partners generating the highest sales revenue during the previous fiscal year. Consilience Global Partners represents leading business management solutions, including: Sage SalesLogix, SageCRM, ACT! by Sage, Peachtree by Sage, Sage MAS 90 and MAS 200 ERP, and other complementary applications.

"Each year, Sage Software recognizes and awards top Business Partners who excel in sales revenue," said Bob Neeser, vice president of sales at Sage Software. "The member firms of Consilience Global Partners have each distinguished themselves in this category, earning inclusion in the Sage Software President's Club. We congratulate each of these Partners for their outstanding performance, and wish them continued success in 2008."

"Each of firms that comprise Consilience Global Partners recognizes that our value is in constructing and implementing business solutions for our clients. While anyone can sell software, it takes experience and expertise to provide solutions," said Sam Biardo of Technology Advisors. "What makes these firms successful is our ability to leverage our own experience and expertise and that of the other firms to deliver viable, effective and beneficial solutions."

"Increasingly, businesses are recognizing the value of partnerships to leverage our collective skills, assets, and experience," said Steve Chipman, president of Lexnet Consulting Group. "Consilience Global Partners was formed from that recognition, and already our clients are seeing the benefits in terms of expanded resources and talents. The success we are achieving for our clients translates easily into success for us as business partners."
