FACTS ABOUT BEREAVEMENT AIR FARES.

- Not always the lowest fare.
- Generally, the discount offered is off a full fare (unrestricted fare), and is often more expensive than what you would pay for a sale ticket.
- Some airlines require you to pay the full amount of the ticket before you travel and then will refund the value of the discount after travel is completed.
- Discounts can be as low as 10 percent off of full fare ticket prices.
- Discounts usually apply for one airline only. If you need more than one airline to get to your destination, you will need to buy separate tickets and ask about each airline's policy.
- Bereavement fares may not be available to all destinations offered by an airline.

WHY PREPAID EMERGENCY TRAVEL?

You may be asking yourself “Why do I need to become a member?” Simply put, PrePaid Emergency Travel can save you thousands of dollars on emergency travel.

Imagine this. You just received a phone call that a loved one 2500 miles away has suffered a massive heart attack and chances of survival are slim.

You pull yourself together enough to contact the airlines to try and make travel arrangements. After waiting on hold for what seems like hours, you are connected to a live person who, in researching the availability of flights to your destination, informs you that the fare is over $1000 and that you are unable to travel to the airport of your choice but to the closest which is 3 hours away.

Avoid all of this by joining PrePaid Emergency Travel’s exclusive membership club. Simply call us 24-hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year and we make all the travel arrangements with no out-of-pocket costs to you.

For just $19.95 per month for Prime membership, or $9.95 per month for bereavement only, you are guaranteed that in the event of a medical emergency or death you will be with your loved ones. This is the peace of mind that we provide to you and your family members. No family should be without PrePaid Emergency Travel; the financial risks are just too great.
