David Powell: The GATHER Model is a six-step, inquiry-based technique that is often used for teaching history.

Mary Kay: Tell us a little bit more about the steps involved in this model, Dave.

Dave: Sure. Sure. The steps include giving an overview, asking questions, triangulating the data, hypothesizing, exploring and interpreting the data, and recording and supporting the conclusions.

Mary Kay: Thanks, Dave. Have a good afternoon.

Dave: You, too. Talk to you soon.
