Coleman Search Consulting and Executive Smarts Announce Partnership Agreement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (July 12, 2010) – Coleman Search Consulting, a leader in retained executive search, and Executive Smarts, LLC, an internationally recognized provider of interim executive management services have announced that they have entered into a partnership agreement that will enable clients to easily utilize the services of both organizations.

“The use of interim executive managers is rapidly expanding, offering an ideal solution to a wide range of corporate situations, including project management, restructurings, business closings, acquisitions, mergers, and start-ups,” stated Coleman Search President Bill Coleman in making the announcement.

According to Executive Smarts CEO Jim Stewart, “Our partnership is a great fit. Both of our organizations operate on an identical philosophy. We are both focused on what our clients have said is important to them. We have proven the ability to provide the most qualified candidates and we deliver more than our clients expect.”

Coleman and Stewart both noted that “Our partnership enables us to expand the value of the human resource solutions that we offer our clients.”
