CLARENDON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Clarendon Memorial Hospital is a 56-bed, non-profit community hospital that has been serving Manning, South Carolina and its surrounding communities since 1951. An active medical staff of 40 physicians performs more than 1,200 outpatient surgeries, 3,000 patient admissions, and over 100,000 outpatient visits each year.

The hospital recently began a two-year renovation project to expand their acute care bed capacity; it also has plans to enlarge the Emergency Department by adding 10 additional beds. The Emergency Department currently consists of 10 beds and treats more than 16,000 patients each year. The majority of severe trauma patients are transferred via helicopter to Columbia, South Carolina.

Clarendon Memorial Hospital offers 24 hours of single physician coverage with double coverage during peak times. Physicians work 12-hour shifts. All candidates must be board-certified in Emergency Medicine or a Primary Care specialty with previous ED experience.
