TAALK Announces First Talk Show Dedicated to Child Sexual Abuse Issues

TAALK announced today that filming had begun for a new talk show entitled, The TAALK Show with Diane Cranley, which will be the first talk show dedicated to the international issue of child sexual abuse.

To kick-off this unique show, TAALK is hosting a 24hr TAALK-A-THON on April 29th, beginning at 8:00am(pdt). TAALK has gathered more than 60 of the worlds top experts and leaders in the child sexual abuse arena. “Child sexual abuse is predictable, preventable, and everyone plays a part in the solution. Experts estimate there are 39 million survivors of child sexual abuse in America alone and we believe it’s time to talk about it.” says founder and host Diane Cranley.

Free international registration for the TAALK-A-THON is available on the TAALK web site, <http://www.taalk.org/TAALK-A-THON>.

For more information, media should contact the public affairs office by e-mail at info@taalk.org or by phone at +1 (949) 495-4553.
