About Clearwater Compliance

CEO and Founder Bob Chaput is one of the most recognized regulatory experts within the HIPAA-HITECH sector. He has been responsible for the security and compliance of some of the world's largest healthcare databases, and has founded and grown several businesses to help organizations comply with strict regulations around the security, privacy, integrity, and accessibility of data. Bob regularly speaks and writes on HIPAA and HITECH compliance issues, and eagerly embraced the internet as a way to educate and help a larger audience.

Bob is supported by a strong team of executives who have extensive experience in healthcare regulations data management, technology and product development, ensuring that all services offered by Clearwater Compliance deliver customers the highest levels of satisfaction and value.

Our experts engage in dialog, not monologue, with our customers to ensure we thoroughly understand your challenges and requirements and accept full accountability for making and keeping our promises to you.
