

Our Capabilities

Technology Expertise for Business Advantage

“The CIO Partnership is not like any other services business. It is not one of the Big 4 consultancies. It is not a leading Systems Integrator or an Interim Management agency. It gives you the best of all these plus so much more, without the limitations and for so much less.”

Review – Plan – Transform – Develop - Specialize

The CIO Partnership is unlike any other service provider you will ever have worked with. Unlike major consulting firms, we provide practitioner led services using very high calibre specialists to deliver measurable results fast and provide excellent value for money.

Unlike large Systems Integrators we take a pragmatic approach to design and deliver practical solutions that are appropriate for your business without unnecessary over-engineering and complexity.

Unlike Interim Management agencies, our CIO Partners are available for short or long-term assignments, part or full time to provide the expertise when and how required.

Unlike other alternatives, we aim to transfer our skills, knowledge and expertise to your staff to make ourselves redundant. We are still available nonetheless, to provide help, assistance and mentoring as and when needed to ensure you long-term success.

Our service delivery capabilities are broad and deep and are far too all-encompassing to describe in one brochure. They may be partitioned though, into discrete areas covering:

- Review – where we can assess the suitability of your processes or IT as they relate to your business needs.
- Plan – covering strategy development. Technology and governance needs.
- Transform – to adopt best practices to change, transform and integrate your business for optimum success.
- Develop – your employees, your management and your business.
- Specialize – we will introduce industry and technology specialists relevant to your business.

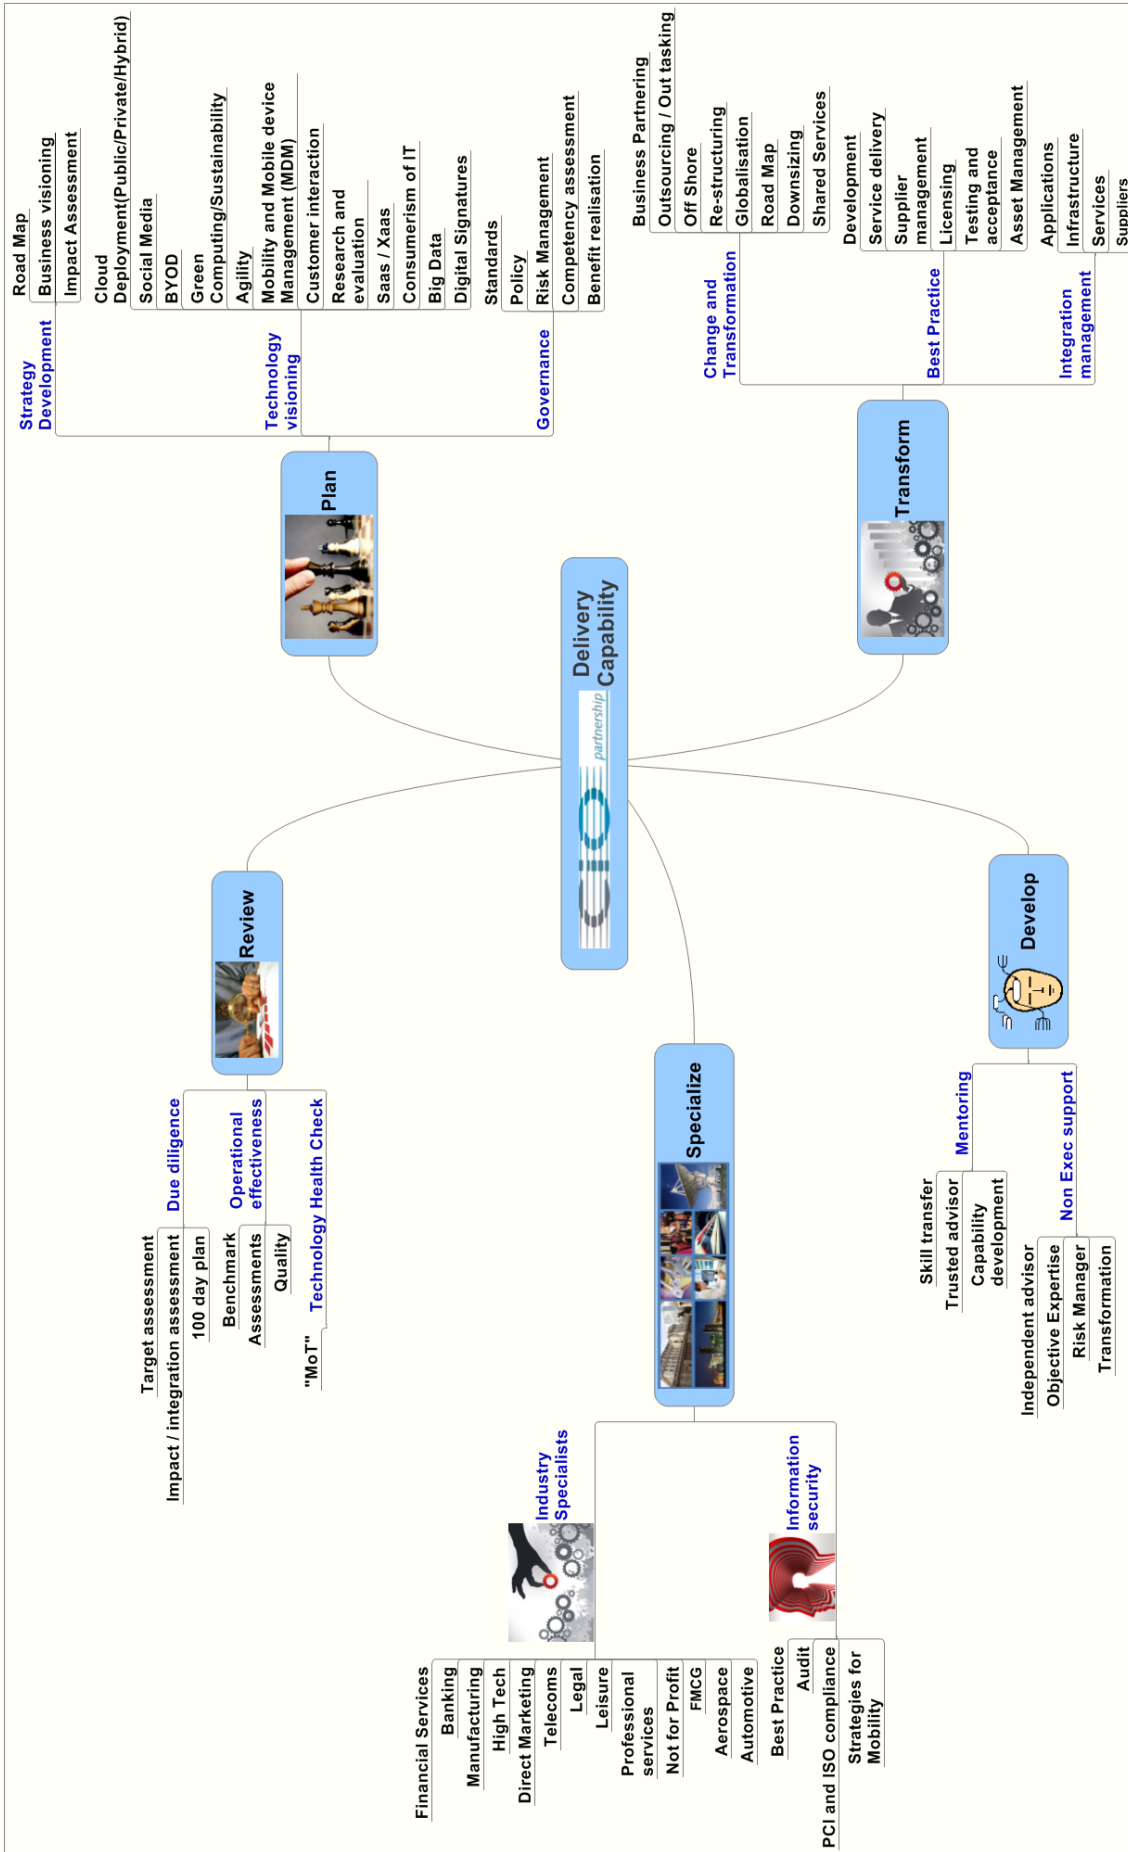

Overleaf we offer a map of “highlights” to introduce you to our core capabilities. We welcome the opportunity to discuss these in more detail with you, so please do contact us using any one of the contact points below.
