

SilverTribe Announces Huge Black Friday Deals on Native American Jewelry

A leading retailer of Native American jewelry is offering big discounts to make Black Friday shopping easier

SilverTribe, the online leader in Native American and Southwest jewelry, is going customers a great reason to beat the crowds on Black Friday by offering big discounts across its entire collection of stunning jewelry.

"We wanted to give our customers the opportunity to buy something really beautiful for their loved ones without having to leave the house or battle Black Friday crowds," said SilverTribe spokesman Chris Anderson. "

SilverTribe is dedicated to providing the best online Black Friday deals to ensure customers find a great deal on exactly what they are looking for - a unique gift idea for their loved ones.

"We'll even ship your gift for free," Anderson said. "That means you'll have your item shipped with plenty of time before Christmas. Our entire inventory is on sale and ready to ship for free. We've never had a sale like this."

To learn more about the Black Friday promotions being offered the day after Thanksgiving, SilverTribe is inviting visitors to sign up for their Preferred Member email list.

"By signing up for our Preferred Member program, customers cash rest assured they'll be kept n the loop throughout the holiday season and never miss a deal," Anderson said. "It's the best way to get unbelievable promotions sent straight to your inbox. We have some really great things in store for the holiday season."

To browse through the latest collection of beautiful Native American and Southwest jewelry, visit the official site at silver.tribe.com.