

Elite Security Services Introduces Remote Keychain Control Device for Kentucky Home Alarm Customers of the Company.

The Kentucky home alarm users can now avail the benefit of yet another sophisticated security device by signing up with Elite Security Services. The recently introduced keychain control device is now available free of charge with all service plans from the company. Elite Security Services is one of the most renowned security service providers throughout the United States and Canada.

Elite Security Services has made a serious enhancement of their Kentucky home alarm systems with the introduction of their advanced remote keychain device. This new component is now available throughout Kentucky with all service plans from the company without any extra expense. Elite Security Services is one of the most aggressively expanding security service providers in the United States that serves customers in all major cities across the United States and Canada. The cost efficient security plans from the company are already extremely popular in Kentucky, and the introduction of the new device has been appreciated by all these users.

Talking about his company's latest addition to their Kentucky home alarm plans, the owner of Elite Security Services Mr. Paul Shakuri stated, " Most of our customers in different other American cities love using this tiny remote control unit. This device helps you control your entire security systems from anywhere close to your house". He also added that the device has a panic button for connecting to emergency assistance numbers quickly in case of an emergency. The device looks exactly like a car remote control and can be carried conveniently.

Elite Security Services has constantly been making news in the Kentucky home alarm industry with their economically priced service plans. The company offers three efficient plans with monthly rentals of $35.99, $40.99, and $44.99 per month. Lots of free benefits are offered by the company to improve customer experience. Apart from offering some of the most trusted options for home protection in Kentucky, the company also plays a proactive role in spreading security awareness throughout the state with their company blog. The security experts in the state have opined that the introduction of this popular device would help Elite Security Services to reach out to more homeowners in Kentucky.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.

Contact

Paul Shakuri

Phone: 800-880-9569

Website: <http://www.YourAlarmNow.com>