

New Quad Core Android 4.2 Phone A Beautiful Powerhouse

CHINA mobile makers are continuing to lead the way with mobile according to Android smartphone specialist Chinavasion with the release of the 5 inch quad core android phone the ZOPO ZP980.

Android mobile seller Chinavasion released the 5 inch quad core Android 4.2 Zopo phone recently, the most high resolution, high performance phone to come out of china yet according to Chinavasion PR Manager Rose Li.

With a 13MP rear camera, 8MP front camera and a beautiful 441PPI retina screen Li says the ZOPO ZP980 will be one of the best phones to take pictures and view items on.

"Using this phone is a beautiful experience," says Li.

"With its 441PPI retina screen websites look beautiful, pictures are crystal clear and the video is flawless."

With a quad core 1.5GHz processor, an Android 4.2 operating system and 2GB of RAM Li says the Zopo Android smartphone can handle multiple tasks with ease.

"Users can browse facebook, check emails, watch a video on youtube and handle text messages without the phone missing a beat."

"There's really nothing that can compare to this Android phone."

Li says at a little over $300 the price was extremely low when compared even to China brands.

"With brand name devices a lot of money goes into marketing that brand," says Li. "ZOPO has created a phone with more power, more performance and more photographic capabilities than anything else in the market."

"I think some big name players will be running scared."

Chinavasion is a Hong Kong and China based wholesaler specializing in Android smartphones. For more information and pricing on all their products, see <http://www.chinavasion.com>