

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

PRO-VISION Ups the Ante with IP69K Waterproof Back-up Cameras for Fire and Rescue Vehicles

The leader in mobile video recording unveils IP69K Waterproof rated back-up camera systems for ambulance, brush, aerial ladder, tanker and pumper trucks.

Byron Center, Mich. – July 31, 2013 – PRO-VISION Video Systems, the country's fastest-growing mobile video system manufacturer, announces substantial upgrades to their rugged, reliable lineup of waterproof back-up camera systems. Although PRO-VISION has had waterproof cameras for years, the lineup was recently rated IP69K, the highest rating of resistance available against solids and high-pressure liquids. "Very few manufacturers produce waterproof back-up camera systems that have this rating and level of reliability," said Marketing Manager Sam Lehnert.

Designed with optional chrome housings and to thrive in the most extreme climates and applications, PRO-VISION's side and rear vision camera systems can be combined to give multiple views that will eliminate dangerous blind spots on fire trucks and EMS vehicles for reduced accidents, insurance and liability costs. Combined with the absolute-best warranty in the industry—5 Years—regardless of where you bought your system or who installed it, no fire truck or ambulance is complete without a PRO-VISION Video System.
