Las Vegas Marriott Undergoes Multimillion Renovation

Las Vegas hotel remodels 278 suites

Las Vegas, NV – Everyone who visits Las Vegas dreams of hitting the jackpot. With the Las Vegas Marriott hotel's amazing renovation set to be completed by October 2013, every guest truly is a winner.

The hotel near the Las Vegas Convention Center is restyling its 278 suites to make the hotel as electrifying as the city that surrounds it while at the same time embracing a warmer, more boutique feel.

Guests who walk along the Las Vegas Strip, just two blocks from the hotel, are bombarded with sensory overload, so the newly remodeled suites are the ideal spaces for a chic, relaxing getaway. The remodeled rooms now boast warm, neutral colors providing a nice escape from the bright, neon flashing lights of the city. Las Vegas is a city full of people, which is why Marriott has designed its suites with separate sitting and sleeping areas for guests to freely move around without feeling cramped.

The custom-designed sitting areas boast new furniture so guests can spread out on elegantly appointed couches with grand views of the city outside their windows or relax while watching a movie on flat-screen televisions. Signature red Marriott chairs and movable ottomans add a little style and comfort to the room.

The sitting areas open to spacious bedrooms with elegant French doors separating the spaces so guests who can't sleep due to the excitement of their casino successes won't disturb those who are enjoying a sound night's sleep on the Las Vegas hotel's new mattresses. The luxurious beds are topped with down comforters, custom duvets, cotton-rich linens and plenty of fluffy pillows and sport modern headboards equipped with reading lights that extend on each side of the bed for late-night, unobtrusive reading.

Visitors looking to buy tickets to a show on The Strip or make reservations at one of Las Vegas' well-known restaurants will appreciate access to high-speed wireless Internet with the hotel's new GPNS technology.

Renovations weren't just contained to guest rooms. Several public spaces were updated throughout the hotel. Business professionals in town for a meeting will find more space to gather. Two of the hotel's hospitality suites have been converted into meeting rooms with flexible space.
