LUNCH AND LEARN LECTURE SERIES

Working as a Therapist With Success and Failure in the Entertainment Industry.

DATE: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 2013

TIME: 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.

LOCATION: Maggiano's Little Italy - The Grove
189 The Grove Drive
Los Angeles, CA 90036

LUNCH IS PROVIDED — a three-course Italian meal, with vegetarian options

*S*PEAKER: Shayne Vitemb, MFT

This workshop will focus on the therapist's challenges of helping clients stay balanced and focused while pursuing their careers in the entertainment industry. It will examine what it means to have a strong sense of self and how to stay grounded in an exciting and volatile business, as well as the meaning of success and failure, rejection and acceptance as it relates to creative people, focusing on screenwriters, actors, and others. The talk will also speak to those aspects of this industry which can make its participants vulnerable to depression, anxiety, and addiction.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Shayne Vitemb is a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist with a private practice in El Segundo, California, where she treats individuals, couples, and groups. She specializes in treating actors, writers, and other creative people, as well as individuals servicing the entertainment industry, such as lawyers, agents, and accountants. Shayne holds an M.A. in Clinical Psychology from Antioch University, Los Angeles, as well as an M.A. in Cinema Studies from Tisch School of the Arts at New York University. Ms. Vitemb has published several articles in psychological journals and newsletters on topics such as Existential Philosophy and Group Therapy, and the new DSM-5. She also held the position of Community Outreach and Social Events Chair and was on the Board of Directors of the Group Psychotherapy Association of Los Angeles.

Before working as a therapist, Shayne worked as a story editor at Columbia Pictures, New York, then moved to Los Angeles where she worked as V.P. of Development for producer Michael Shamberg at Universal, then went on to head up development as V.P. of Dennis Quaid's company. She worked extensively with screenwriters, actors, producers, and directors in this capacity.
