Detroit, MI – October 26, 2013 - Provident, a leader in healthcare management consulting and compliance solutions announces the demonstration of its comprehensive ICD-10 Documentation Education Solution with ProvidentEdge™, an innovative online training system that leverages actual clinical record documentation to guide clinical documenters and coders to meet ICD-10 standards. Provident will demonstrate the ProvidentEdge™ ICD-10 education solution at AHIMA 2013 in Atlanta, GA from Sunday, October 27 through Wednesday, October 30, 2013 at booth number 1645.

Visitors to the Provident booth will be guided through group and individual demonstrations of this innovative online healthcare education solution designed to prepare coders, physicians, nurses, and all other impacted populations for the transition to ICD-10. The Provident ICD-10 Documentation Solution is a web based application designed to operate seamlessly in any technical environment.

“This training solution is the result of careful review of thousands of actual clinical records covering every clinical condition, procedure and care setting across our diverse client base. We isolated the most common, most complex, and highest impact documentation and coding challenges and built training examples using these records to guide documenters and coders to meet ICD-10 documentation standards. Our clients tell us the ability to see real examples of how clinical documentation is impacted by the standards is a true market differentiator. They appreciate the fact that our examples are designed to be absorbed in 15 minutes or less.” said Michael Dougherty, Founder and CEO of Provident.
