XCEL Partners, a management consulting firm, recently gained an updated online resource that was created by AgniTEK.

College Station, TX, November 13, 2013— AgniTEK, a nationally-recognized company for their expertise in helping organizations leverage technology to improve businesses, is pleased to announce the launch of an updated website for XCEL Partners at <http://www.xcelpartners.com>. The website was designed and created by AgniTEK associates and is live on the web.

XCEL Partners is a management consulting firm for upstream oil and gas productions products. They specialize in Shale Play Development and focus on organizational development, strategy, and business design. They create better wells before the execution begins; create faster, healthier organizations, take waste out of the capital program to make better wells, put a performance system in that will last and much more. At XP they bring a completely integrated performance improvement system along with a team of highly experienced professionals to their clients' wells programs. Their goal is to ensure the strategy is implemented so that key business objectives are achieved and that performance excellence is sustained. To learn more about their services, visit their website today.

The XCEL Partners website provides many functions to help the company inform the public what they do in a highly organized way. Some of these functions are descriptive news pages that inform viewers about announcements and current articles that have been published. This allows for the successful work accomplished to be shared with possible clients. Under the services tab, there are a list of detailed services as well as explaining Shale Play and why a customer should choose XCEL Partners. The site also provides a "Join Us" page for potential employees to gain information on what positions are available and how to apply. Finally, there is a "Networks" page that lets one stay updated and in touch with XP and the shale play communities. All of these features were made possible by AgniTEK and their associates.
