

Huawei Honor 3 waterproof smartphone officially launched

The Huawei Honor 3 is reportedly water and dust resistant with IP57 certification . It is now available at its agent Comebuy.

On November 20th, Huawei announced the launch of the international version Honor 3 outdoor. This phone is a quad-core smart phone that supports three-proofing function with high performance-price ratio.

The Huawei Honor 3 outdoor is claimed to be water and dust resistant to a level of IP57, making it resistant not just to wet hands but to immersion under water. Wading screen or wet fingers, you can still operate the phone well.

Huawei Honor 3 outdoor is a mid-level device featuring a 4.7-inch display at 1280 x 720. The smartphone selects Huawei' s own quad-core Hass K3V2 chip running at 1.5GHz, combined with 2 GB of RAM and 8 GB of internal storage which is expandable with a micro SD card. It also uses a unique power-saving technology to save electricity by 20% to 30%, effectively extending the hours of entertainment. The Honor 3 is also packing an infra-red (IR) sensor that will allow you to use the phone to remote control home appliance.

Huawei Honor 3 features 13.1 megapixel Exmor RS rear-facing camera, using five high-precision lens sheet with special blue glass that can filter the infrared to achieve good light gathering and provide the basic protection for outstanding images.

The international version of Huawei Honor 3 has met the needs of different users. It is rumored to take on Samsung, rivaling the Galaxy S4. The phone is now available with a price tag of 359.18 dollars at Comebuy.com and has enjoyed great popularity among customers. For more information, please visit Comebuy.com.
