MTS Software Solutions Adds New Hires & Technology to Sustain Growth into 2014

MTS Reveals New Personnel, Logo, and Website with High Hopes for the Coming Year

MOORESTOWN, NJ – January 16, 2014 – MTS Software Solutions, a provider of document and business process management software and services announced several new hires, a redesigned logo and an updated website - giving leadership at the company good reason to set high expectations for 2014.

“We’re coming off of a strong finish to 2013 with record-breaking receivables in December, and we recognize the importance of investing in talent and tools to sustain that growth,” said Gary Schwartz, Chief Executive Officer. “We see indications that the economy is stably improving, and we recognize that there are latent opportunities with businesses and institutions that may have been postponing investments in their infrastructure. We want to be ready for that, and we are.”

MTS Software Solutions has expanded its sales team by adding two Senior Solutions Consultants - Mark Plunkett and L. Craig Randall. Mark, based in the NY Metro area, and Craig, based in Ohio, each bring with them a number of years of solutions experience and industry-proven expertise. MTS has also added John C. Enny as the new Vice President of Marketing. John will lead the company’s marketing efforts.

The company has also launched a new logo and redesigned website: www.mtssoftwaresolutions.com. The new logo and website reflect the company’s effort to continue evolving in order to meet the needs and demands of customers and prospects. “MTS provides our customers faster, smarter ways to do business. We want visitors to get the information they need from our website quickly and efficiently, so they can make informed decisions about doing business with us,” said Andy Schwartz, Senior Vice President of Sales & Marketing.

MTS Software Solutions attributes a significant proportion of their growth in 2013 to implementations of their IntellaFlo Product Suite. IntellaFlo is a web-based document capture and workflow management platform that streamlines document processing and payment application. MTS leadership believes that the demand for their products and services will continue to grow.

“We’re confident about the resources that we’ve put in place to make 2014 a big year for MTS as well as for our partners and customers. We want to help business and agency leaders realize that there hasn't been a better time to modernize their operations and start saving money, time, and resources immediately,” continued Andy Schwartz.
