

TRAPP CONNECT ANNOUNCES MEMBERSHIP IN THE ARIZONA TECHNOLOGY COUNCIL

Blended bandwidth Internet provider joins Arizona's premier technology association

Scottsdale, AZ. – January 20, 2014 – Scottsdale-based Trapp Connect, trappconnect.com, today announced it has been accepted as a member of the Arizona Technology Council. Membership in the council will provide increased marketing exposure, networking opportunities and public policy influence. Council members can benefit from Trapp Connect's affordable, ultra-reliable, BGP Internet service for business, available at data centers nationwide. The service provides the advantages of improved performance and reliability through route optimization over a blend of bandwidth from multiple Tier 1 carriers.

"The influence of The Arizona Technology Council encourages a technology friendly business environment," stated Cody Engilman, Director of Sales and Marketing, Trapp Connect. "We are excited to contribute our voice in support of the industry."

Trapp Connect leverages its carrier class network architecture, advanced data security, and a blend of top IP carriers to reduce latency and make possible a 100% uptime guarantee. Fast, reliable, and redundant service from Trapp Connect gives business customers the flexibility to withstand carrier outages or performance problems by automatically adapting to changes in the Internet.
