SUMMARY: PUABooks.net releases a review of "Get The Girl Code" a newly launched guide for men which promises to reveal a secret "cheat code" for the female mind that allows men to create amazing instantaneous connections with women.

Get The Girl Code - a new training program for single men seeking to improve their results with women and dating has just been released to the public to rave reviews from many in the dating and relationship advice community. The excitement surrounding the programs release has prompted a detailed review from PUABooks.net's Clint Johnson.

"The Get The Girl Code program teaches guys what the author refers to as a 'cheat code' to the female mind that enables men to attract women, and even get women to fall in love simply by pushing a couple of psychological 'buttons'," says Johnson. "Obviously a lot of guys wish they had this power, particularly guys who feel like they are always getting ignored or rejected by the women that they want. So, I was eager to review this program for my readers to share my thoughts on the system's methodology and effectiveness."

Get The Girl Code is available digitally online through private members only website allowing customers instant access to all training materials includes a series of in-depth training videos, audio tracks that can be downloaded or listened to online, and PDF transcripts. In addition customers receive access to several bonus trainings including "My First Ever One Night Stand", "How To Avoid The Friend Zone", "The Sexual Escalation Formula" and "Miss X's Simple Seduction Checklist".

"Our Get The Girl Code review explains that this course was designed for guys who want to be able to attract and connect with women naturally, and automatically, without needing to do any of the weird 'PUA' stuff, or anything that feels fake or manipulative," says Johnson. "The program offers customers an inside look into the psychology of female desire, and provides a step-by-step system for overcoming what Miss X refers to as the 'desire gap' in order to attract and connect with women on a deep level."
