FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

deverus Partners with ReferencePro to Provide a Total Verification and Reference Solution

deverus has integrated ReferencePro's verification and reference solution into its existing background screening offering to simplify a time- and labor-intensive process for hiring companies.

AUSTIN, TX  April 02, 2014—deverus, Inc., the leading provider of mission-critical workflow solutions to the background check industry, has announced a new integration with ReferencePro, the top wholesale verification and reference provider in the screening industry. The new partnership allows deverus clients to verify applicant employment history and references in a single platform.

Background checks are time-sensitive, indispensable events for employers seeking to hire new staff in a cost-effective manner. Verifications and references on potential employees is one of the most time-consuming, manual aspects of the screening process. In order to be efficient and accurate, the process requires a dedicated team of well trained and focused researchers.

Starting April 7, background screeners that use the deverus platform can route verifications and references to ReferencePro and focus more of their efforts on core operations. Employers can now replace calls, emails, and other communication with simple keystrokes "This partnership allows deverus to offer a complete background screening package that streamlines the process and allows our customers to have more efficient, effective organizations," said deverus CEO Shane Long. "Automating manual processes is an essential goal of deverus and this is one further step to reduce the costs of onboarding new employees for our customers."

"We have great respect for deverus users, and we are thrilled to be integrated with the superb deverus platform," said ReferencePro Vice President & GM Craig Caddell.
