Patterson Belknap signs Managed Services Agreement with Iris Data Services
Electronic Discovery Company Delivers Scalable Relativity Environment for Law Firm

NEW YORK, April 7, 2014 — Iris Data Services, a leading provider of discovery solutions, announced today that it has signed a managed services agreement with law firm Patterson Belknap Webb & Tyler LLP. Iris will provide managed electronic discovery and hosted document review services through the Iris Discovery Management program that includes discovery consulting, eDiscovery processing, and data hosting using kCura's eDiscovery platform, Relativity. Iris Data Services is a leading supplier of discovery solutions including electronic discovery, managed litigation services and document review technologies, including kCura's Relativity, which includes Relativity Analytics and Relativity Assisted Review.

"Patterson Belknap is constantly striving to create a more efficient and cost effective way to deliver discovery services for our clients," said Rachelle Rennagel, Director of Legal Services at Patterson Belknap Webb & Tyler, "while at the same time utilizing best in class technologies for litigation support. Using a managed services vendor like Iris Data Services allows us to offer our clients a robust document review platform, while driving down the costs of eDiscovery." Rennagel went on to say, "kCura's eDiscovery platform, Relativity, gives the firm a universal platform for document review including sophisticated data analytics and technology assisted review to streamline and cut document review costs.   Our partnership with Iris provides the firm with the backing of a company that understands eDiscovery and that has created a flexible managed services model to support our instance of Relativity. Iris literally acts as an extension of our practice support group, allowing Patterson Belknap to focus on what we do best, practice law."

"Iris Discovery Management will help Patterson Belknap provide significant value to their clients by having predictable costs for their discovery operations," said the president of Iris, Major Baisden. "It will also allow Patterson Belknap to spend less time managing litigation support tools, processes and infrastructure, and more time focused on using kCura's eDiscovery platform, Relativity, including Relativity Analytics and Relativity Assisted Review."

About Iris Discovery Management
Iris Discovery Management (DM) is a managed services platform for law firms and corporations who are dissatisfied with the internal capital and overhead expense or the continual investment and time spent outsourcing discovery needs. Iris Discovery Management blends best of breed solutions and technical expertise with the ability for litigation departments to evaluate current electronic discovery spend, ultimately increasing their client serving abilities. Unlike outsourcing every discovery service or paying higher capital investment to keep it internal, Iris has assembled a subscription-based package that includes dedicated applications & infrastructure, discovery consulting, forensics collection & culling, eDiscovery processing, data hosting using kCura's Relativity, data analytics, and attorney document review.
