

Duck Fact Sheet

- What is a Duck: A Duck is an amphibious vehicle, meaning it can travel on land and water. It has six driving wheels, a steel hull and the capacity to carry 25 people while afloat and 5,000-pounds of general cargo. The Duck's land motor is located in the front. It operates in water by means of a pusher/propeller located at the rear. (Note: Original Wisconsin Ducks carry a maximum of 21 people per tour).
- Vital Statistics: Weight = 7 tons Length = 31 feet Width = 8 feet Height = 10½ feet
Engine = Original engines are six-cylinder GMC model 270 truck engines.
About half of the fleet has been converted to six-cylinder Cummins diesel engines.
Transmission = Four- and six-wheel drive; 10 speeds forward / two reverse
Top Speeds = 50 mph on land; 11 knots on water
- Official Name: DUKW is the official military code used to describe the unique vehicles.
“D” stands for 1942, the year of production
“U” indicates it is an amphibious utility vehicle
“K” represents front-wheel drive
“W” signifies twin, rear-driving axles
- Everyday Name: American soldiers simply called them “Ducks,” a fitting nickname since the military code DUKW looked similar and the vehicles could operate on land and water.
- Our Fleet: With more than 90 Ducks, Original Wisconsin Ducks is the largest fleet of amphibious tour ducks in the nation. There are an estimated 300 operational Ducks in the United States. However, many more of the vehicles were abandoned in Europe where OWD managers have traveled to find Ducks in good condition to add to the fleet.
- Naming Ducks: Each Original Wisconsin Duck bears the name of a famous military leader, such as General MacArthur, or a famous battle or locations where Ducks participated in war efforts. A few are named after the girlfriends of our early Duck drivers.
