[We have] utilized the services of Valicom for over 9 years to assist with the management of our agreements, vendors, and spend with regard to our telecommunications expense. In that time, they have, year-over-year, produced a positive ROI and significantly reduced the management headache of dealing with such a large and diverse group of telecom vendors.

In short, they act as an extension of my staff, and I have come to trust and rely on them as one of my staff. I could not be as proactive or diligent about managing my telecom spend were it not for Valicom. They are always available to assist me should I have a question or problem. They come with my highest recommendation.
