

What would the Miami Family Event have been without its beloved seniors? Seniors from all ages attended the event, taking part in all the fun festivities and entertainment. Dancing, massages, free prizes, and food were just some of the great things the seniors received. The Department of Health, the Social Security Administration, as well as most major healthcare providers extended their services, information, tips, and screenings to the community.