WEB and Mobile Design Courses

Linking web and design. SDPS offers exclusive workshops that focus on developing and refining skills for web, tablets and mobile. Industry experts will provide training to enhance existing front-end design work and share industry trends and current approaches. These courses are specifically tailored for designers and will make your portfolio more relevant.

COPYWRITING COURSES

With the explosion of media, copywriting is in demand like never before. SDPS copywriting courses teach you how to solve communication problems with smart, compelling copy. Learn how to develop essential copy strategies, work through a variety of creative exercises, and express a brand's human truth with gripping copy solutions. You'll tackle short and long copy formats for print, outdoor and digital media.

CONCEPTUAL DESIGN COURSES

Idea is king. SDPS Ideation courses emphasize creative thinking for advertising and design challenges. Create and implement smart, innovative and strategic ideas that will make your work stand out. You'll develop visual solutions, plus the messaging needed for finished comprehensives that will build and improve your portfolio.

PORTFOLIO COURSES

You've arrived. Your portfolio is the place to show what you've got and here is where you bring it all together.

These courses help you build a professional, integrated portfolio for print, tablets and the web. You'll refine your personal brand, write an effective resume, work on interviewing and presentation, and create the self-promotion materials needed to compete in today's job market.

Award-winning instructors that are currently working in the industry teach SDPS courses - so you get information that is up-to-date.
