Hospital Corporation Addresses Rapid Growth with miVEDiX Analytics Platform

The healthcare industry in the United States is a juggernaut, estimated to make up as much as 20% of North American economies and employing millions of people across hundreds of disciplines. So when a major healthcare organization decides to tackle their ever-growing data and analytics needs, the team they turn to for help has to be on top of their game.

iVEDiX has a deep, focused level of experience when it comes to working with data for healthcare organizations. This experience crosses multiple vectors, from hospital financials to patient informatics - experience that has been leveraged in servicing some of the biggest healthcare organizations in the world. New regulations, like those emerging from the Affordable Care Act in the US, have only increased the need for healthcare organizations to have concrete, predictive systems in place to make the most out of their data.

Reforming Hospital Facilities

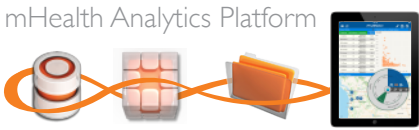

Facilities management is a strange beast. It can by turns be highly physical in nature, but also very dependant upon traditional, office-bound work. This collision between in-the-field labor and in-the-office management has always been a sticking point for efficiency and productivity, since many of the folks tasked with actually doing the work - think the construction, the on-site engineering, or even the maintenance - don't have access to the vast resources that would be available to them in an office. Likewise, management and executives might not be getting the best picture of how resources are being utilized, or what the trends are.

Luckily, iVEDiX possesses the technology to bridge these gaps with miVEDiX, our mobile BI and Analytics platform. Connecting various data ecosystems is not only our job, it is our trademark.
