

Kalvin J. Evans Bio

Kalvin, owner of Xodus Ventures, LLC, has a passion for fitness, wellness, adventure, and changing people's lives! Since 1998, he has been involved in fitness from leading Boot Camp workouts, Reebok Cycling Instruction, Personal Training, to Kettle Bell Training. He has also coordinated adventure trips for kids and adults since 2000, ranging from rock-climbing, kayaking, hiking, and mountain biking! After spending nearly 3 years at NorthBay, an outdoor environmental adventure camp near Baltimore Maryland, Kalvin Evans and family relocated to Colorado to launch their fitness/adventure/survival consulting business helping clients get healthy, in shape, and living life as an adventure. His goal is to create a new wave in fitness, survival, and adventure using non-traditional forms of training. In 2011, he was selected to compete on the reality television program, One Man Army: Fear Is Not An Option which aired on the Discovery Channel. Currently, he is training and running an exercise Bootcamp in Paonia, Colorado before launching a national campaign. He wants to offer retreats for individuals who are serious about reaching their health/fitness goals, offer adventure trips, and work with young people in helping them reach their potential. A new website is currently up and found at www.xodusadventures.com! Be Super Strong!