Career Partners International Welcomes Bob Engel as New Supply Chain Practice Leader

The Houston, Dallas, Austin and Louisiana offices of Career Partners International, a leading global provider of outplacement, career transition, executive coaching and other talent management solutions, recently welcomed Bob Engel as leader of their new supply chain practice.

Chapel Hill, NC (11/13/14) – The Houston/Dallas/Austin/Louisiana offices of Career Partners International, a leading global provider of outplacement, career transition, executive coaching and other talent management services, welcomed Bob Engel as leader of its new supply chain management (SCM) practice earlier this month.

Career Partners International – Houston/Dallas/Austin/Louisiana and the Performance Search Group Division help Fortune 500 companies and others optimize their bottom lines through talent acquisition, development, transition services and project management. To continue growing and providing value-added services to clients, supply chain management, with Engel leading the venture, was added to its list of regional offerings.

“Bob brings a proven track record of delivering superior results improving companies’ business transformations, strategic sourcing, contract management, talent recruitment, materials management, organizational design and other procurement and supply chain management activities,” commented Mike McKee, CEO of Career Partners International – Houston/Dallas/Austin/Louisiana. “Our clients will benefit from Bob’s skills and leadership experience.”

As a practitioner and consultant for over 25 years, Engel possesses hands-on experience in supply chain management (SCM) and held leadership positions for both Fortune 100 and mid-sized companies. He co-founded The Procurement Centre in 1996, which provided seasoned and experienced consultants to businesses in the industry. Following its acquisition in 2002, Engel spent the next 10 years as the Senior Practice Leader responsible for building a SCM consulting and staffing practice on a global basis. He has published numerous articles in various industry periodicals and has been a frequent speaker for the Institute of Supply Management (ISM) and other professional organizations.

“ I am very excited about joining such a quality firm as Career Partners International. My goal remains steadfast - to assist companies in strengthening their supply chain management activities - and Career Partners International is a great fit for me to accomplish that objective. ”
