

What if you could reduce inventory by as much as 50%? What if you could trim obsolete inventory by 30%? What if you could return 10% of your annual supply chain overhead back to your bottom line? These are just a few of examples of how JDA Software has returned value to their customers. Plantensive's mission is to bring JDA Supply Chain Planning to the Mid-Market through our unique software and services delivery options; customized for each client's budget and resource constraints.

Plantensive's Supply Chain Planning-as-a-Service

Planning is in our DNA, so we've taken our services a bit further beyond just offering JDA Software licensing and implementation services with our Supply Chain Planning-as-a-Service Program. This unique service offering provides our clients access to sophisticated supply chain planning tools and planners, at a fraction of the time and cost to perform this function internally. With this program, our clients have

- ✓ no software to buy, maintain, or upgrade;
- ✓ avoid a lengthy implementation project;
- ✓ zero technical concerns, and
- ✓ the immediate opportunity to benefit from improved supply chain planning performance without the long term commitment to software licenses and resources.

Call or email us about our FREE consultation to discover if supply chain planning-as-a-service is a competitive advantage for your organization.
