The Thrill of Acceleration with Drag Racing: Bike Edition

Now Enabled for Android* Tablets Powered by Intel® Atom™ Processors

There is really nothing like the charge of climbing on a racing bike: the immediate power, the silky maneuverability, the way the tires hug the track. Now, that same adrenaline rush comes to mobile device users, right on their stunning high-definition screens. Drag Racing: Bike Edition is enabled for Intel® Atom™ Processor-based tablets for Android* and the high speeds and fierce competition is a must for racing and gaming fans.

With 17 peak-condition racing bikes to choose from, users can make all kinds of fine-tuned adjustments to increase their capabilities on the track. The realistic dashboard provides all the crucial gauges so riders can calculate for the win. This app offers unique social gaming elements, with four online modes that enable players to challenge friends or random racers all over the world. With up to nine bikes on the track at a time, the heart-pounding rivalry takes on a whole new level. Racers can share their finest racing moments with a playback feature that links to Facebook* or Twitter* and a global leaderboard lets the champions celebrate their stats.
