Making the Right Connections

Today's technologies make it easy to blur the lines between work, leisure, and everything in-between. Staying connected 24/7 on a PC, Mac®, iOS®, Android®, and Linux®, literally puts the world at your fingertips, wherever and whenever you need to reach out—on your schedule, in your Universe. Whether you shop at home, IM at the office, or tweet at a café, making the right online connections is now an everyday part of life. But, is your online activity protected?

The Big Picture

I already have anti-virus and spyware protection, so I'm completely safe, right?

You probably feel better knowing that you have anti-virus and spyware programs protecting your computer, right? If only online security was that simple. Yes, these types of programs are necessary to protect your computer and information from inbound threats, but there are also outbound dangers every time you go on the Internet that most people are not even aware of. Without protection, your IP address (like a street address for your computer) acts like a digital footprint, making it easy for others to track where you're going and what you're doing, and you don't want that. After all, who wants some potentially nefarious stranger reading their personal emails, chat sessions, IM's, credit card information, and even username and passwords on personal accounts?

// Unlike other VPN providers, we believe that what you do online is your business, so you can trust that Anonymizer will never view, track, or keep logs of the websites you visit. //

—Lance Cottrell, Anonymizer founder

Virtual. Private. Protected.

How does Anonymizer Universal work?

Anonymizer Universal uses powerful Virtual Private Network (VPN) technology to encrypt and secure all of your Internet traffic. Whenever you use your computer, smartphone, or tablet to visit a website or any other online destination, all of your activities travel through a secure and encrypted tunnel to our services, thus keeping anyone from seeing what sites you are visiting on the Internet. In addition, your digital footprint becomes anonymous and secure from anyone who might be watching.

Whenever, Wherever, and Everywhere In-Between

Am I only protected at home?

Anonymizer Universal's unique technologies make it possible to stay protected online whenever you choose to connect from your computer, smartphone, or tablet. So go ahead, venture out into your Universe knowing that your online chats, IM, personal business, emails, and surfing are protected in your living room, at a Wi-Fi hotspot, on the golf course, and everywhere in-between.

Technically Speaking

I'm not very technical, does that matter?

Anonymizer Universal is the right anonymity solution for techies and non-techies alike. The service works with all browsers and is installed with a quick-and-easy software download. With a simple click, you'll be surfing in your online Universe knowing that your Internet traffic is safe and anonymous as it travels securely through our VPN.
