

The Bytox Hangover Patch Relief Team to distribute free patches at the St. Patrick's Day Parade in New York City!

NEW YORK, NY (March 16th, 2015) | Bytox is pleased to announce the formation of its Bytox Hangover Relief Team, joining the public at the St. Patrick's Day Parade on Tuesday, March 17th, in New York City. The Bytox Hangover Relief Team will be mingling with the parade's spectators, and distributing free samples of The Hangover Patch.

The Hangover Patch from Bytox contains 12 organic, all-natural ingredients, which are a blend of vitamins, nutrients and antioxidants.

Felix Elison of Bytox stated, "We are excited to be a part of this holiday event. St. Paddy's Day is well known for excessive drinking, resulting in one of the biggest hangover days of the year, this is why our relief team will be on the streets giving out free patches."

By deploying The Bytox Relief Team at the St. Patrick's Day Parade on March 17th, the company hopes to educate the public about its product, and how it can effectively solve one of the biggest woes of partying. Dressed for the occasion, the team will be easily noticeable and pleasantly equipped with free samples of The Hangover Patch. For more information, please visit www.bytox.com.
