

BADLAND by Frogmind

Now Enabled for Intel® Atom™ Processor-based Tablets for Android*

Enter a blindingly beautiful, alternate universe, where all the flora and fauna are familiar and yet unrecognizable. With the compelling immersion of a graphic novel or animated film, BADLAND invites gamers to experience the next level of side-scrolling platformer adventure. The lush, imaginative landscape is now enabled for Android* tablets powered by Intel® Atom™ processors.

Alien forest dwellers must contend with a strange, industrial mystery that has upended their world. Players can choose a character and decide between a winner-takes-all scenario, or collaborate with their fellow creatures to ensure their survival. 100 deviously creative levels take solo gamers deep into a world fraught with traps, secret passageways and dangerous obstacles. A multiplayer option allows up-to-four gamers to contend for the win or work together.

The Captivating Atmosphere of BADLAND Now on the Latest Tablets

With hand-painted illustrations, unsettlingly life-like sound and addictive gameplay, the BADLAND app has garnered multiple awards for its innovative style and unique visuals. Now, it reaches a whole new audience with Android* tablets powered by Intel Atom processors. Lightweight portability and crisp, responsive touch capability brings the transformative power of BADLAND to life on these high-resolution screens.
