

The 22nd Annual

National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame
Scholar-Athlete Awards Banquet

Grand Ballroom
The Denver West Marriott
April 13, 2015

The Colorado Chapter 2014-15

Tonight, the Colorado Chapter celebrates its 22nd class of outstanding high school scholar-athletes and over two decades of service to amateur football in the state of Colorado.

The Colorado Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame was chartered on July 1, 1992, and is one of 120 chapters in 47 states that make up the organization. Its members include former players, coaches, athletics administrators, educators, officials, news media and football fans, all of who enjoy the game of football and share in its purposes and goals.

One of its primary goals is to recognize and honor the top high school football student-athletes in the state – young men who have distinguished themselves on the field, in the classroom and in extracurricular and community activities where leadership abilities are displayed.

The 22nd annual awards banquet recognizes the top 12 student-athletes chosen from a field of statewide nominees and selected by an impartial committee of six persons with diverse backgrounds. The criteria for selection are based on a combination of athletic ability (40 percent), academic achievement and character (40 percent) and citizenship and service (20 percent).

It is also the only chapter nationwide that selects collegiate players of the week and a collegiate All-State team, with 2014 marking the 12th straight year of such recognition which began for the 2003 season. And beginning with the 2014 season, the chapter is recognizing an Academic All-Colorado team comprised of the 10 football-playing colleges and universities in the state, as well as selecting a Student-Athlete of the Year (based upon academic and athletic excellence).

Adam Brown, Air Academy

A prolific two-sport athlete, Adam set numerous passing records as a senior for Air Academy under coach Mike Roof. He completed 260-of-473 passes for 3,656 yards and 37 touchdowns, throwing for over 300 yards on eight occasions (out of 10 games). But one game stands out in particular, as he set the state's record for the most passing yards in a game: in a wild 68-62 loss to Sand Creek, he completed 35-of-54 passes for 589 yards and seven touchdowns (with just one interception). He threw for 5,050 yards and 44 touchdowns in his career, playing only a half season at quarterback his sophomore and junior years; he still finished his prep days as the state's fifth all-time leader passer. As a guard on Air Academy's 4A state champion basketball team, he averaged 5.8 points, 3.6 rebounds, 2.5 assists and 1.8 steals per game. He owns a 3.9 grade point average and is undecided on his college choice.

Austin Conway, Overland

One of the top two-sport student-athletes in the state, the Denver Post selected him to its All-Colorado team as an "athlete." That made sense as he gained yards via rushing (864), punt return (76), kickoff return (50) and even receiving (4), or 994 yards overall; but he was Overland's starting quarterback, completing 65 percent of his passes (152-of-233) for 1,637 yards and 16 touchdowns. He thus accounted for 2,501 yards of total offense for Seth Replogle's Trailblazers his senior year, and 7,764 in his career, as he rushed for over 1,000 yards each of his sophomore and junior seasons. While he scored 43 touchdowns on the gridiron, he averaged 10.9 points per game (along with 4.3 assists and 1.4 steals) for the 23-5 OHS squad, which captured the Colorado 5A state title. The owner of a 4.1 grade point average, Austin will attend the University of Wyoming this fall, where he signed a letter of intent to play basketball for the Cowboys.

Dylan Draper, Discovery Canyon

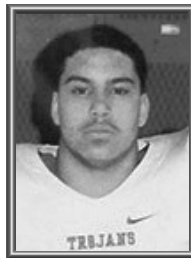

He earned 3A all-state honors and the Southern League defensive player of the year as a senior, when he was among the state's leaders in tackles. In 13 games at linebacker, he recorded 167 tackles (115 solo), with 31 for losses including 17 quarterback sacks. But that wasn't all; he also had 21 hurries, 18 passes broken up, five forced fumbles, four recoveries, four interceptions (returning one for a touchdown) and four blocked punts. He also caught 15 passes for 367 yards and two TDs on offense playing tight end. A three-year starter, he had 335 career tackles, 61 of which were for losses and 30 sacks, along with 36 hurries, 26 PBU's, nine forced fumbles and seven interceptions. Discovery Canyon was 12-1 his senior year under coach Shawn Mitchell, reaching the 3A state semifinal and winning the Southern League title; DCHS was the South Central League champ his sophomore and junior years and was 13-0 in league play his final three years there. Off the field, he is completing his requirements to become an Eagle Scout, and he has been very active in community service, participating in dozens of projects from landscaping elementary schools to local food drives. An Honor Roll student all four years in high school, he owns a 3.65 grade point average in high school (all but one term over 3.43, the other a 3.29) and will enroll this summer at the United States Air Force Academy.

2014 Scholar-Athletes

Drue Harris, Fountain-Fort Carson

In earning All-Colorado honors from the Denver Post (in addition to all-state accolades), he was a solid two-way performer for coach Mitch Johnson, he rushed for 1,216 yards and 11 touchdowns on offense and racked up 94 tackles with nine for losses on defense as a senior. He averaged 7.9 yards per rush, with six 100-yard games, and had the play all running backs dream about: against Lakewood, he scored on a 99-yard run; he also had long runs in other games that covered 91, 88 and 76 yards. He ran for 2,155 yards and 22 touchdowns in his career, while posting 296 tackles from his linebacker position. He has earned nine letters to date in three sports (football, basketball, track), and was a member of Fountain-Fort Carson's 51 state champion track team as a junior. He currently carries a 3.43 grade point average and has committed to continuing his athletic career at the United States Military Academy in West Point.

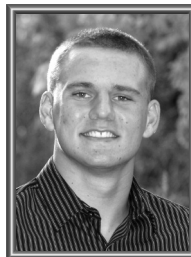

Parker Hammond, Pine Creek

One of the top offensive linemen in the state, he played a significant role in Pine Creek's run for back-to-back state 4A titles his junior and senior seasons; under coach Todd Miller, PHS won the last 25 games of his prep career. In earning 4A all-state honors as a senior, he helped an explosive PCHS offense average 40.7 points and 422 yards per game on offense, with 293 of those coming on the ground (Pine Creek backs had 16 100-yard rushing games and scored 53 touchdowns, many of those where they followed Hammond into the end zone). Those running backs averaged 256 yards his junior year, scoring 46 times. He had numerous pancake blocks in his prep career and did not allow a quarterback sack as a senior. He owns a 4.14 grade point average in high school (on a 4.0 scale), and will enroll this summer at the United States Air Force Academy.

Max McDonald, Rocky Mountain

A three-year starter at linebacker and four-year letterman overall, Max carries a 3.75 grade point average at Rocky Mountain High in Fort Collins and was first-team Academic All-Colorado as a junior and senior, when he also served as a team captain. The 2014 Front Range League defensive player of the year, he racked up 138 total tackles, with 111 solo stops, both the top figures in the state; six of those were quarterback sacks. He garnered All-Colorado honors from the Denver Post, and was a three-time All-Front Range league performer. He had 109 tackles and two interceptions as a junior, and on offense as a sophomore, ran for 318 yards and five touchdowns (with 52 tackles on defense). Also letters in track & field (throws), he was the 2014 Colorado 5A state and FRL champion in the discus and shot put. Head coach was Mark Brook, who took RMHS (9-2) to the second round of the 5A playoffs his senior year. From an athletic family, an uncle played football at CSU, an aunt ran track for the Rams and another uncle was on the soccer team at Air Force. Very active in community service, both for his high school and the city (including food donation drives). He will stay in his native Fort Collins and is a member of Mike Bobo's first recruiting class at Colorado State.

2014 Scholar-Athletes

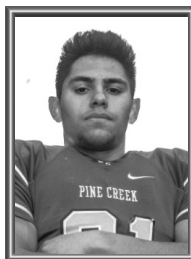

Mike Morean, Cherry Creek

The 2014 recipient of the coveted Denver Post Gold Helmet Award, he was also an All-Colorado selection by the Post as he was an integral part of coach Dave Logan's and Cherry Creek High School's run to the 5A state championship. A two-sport star in football (safety) and lacrosse, he excelled at making tackles in one (127) and scoring in the other (25 goals as a high school All-American as a junior). He also had six passes broken up, three interceptions and a quarterback sack, not to mention a key forced fumble in the state title game that ended any hopes for a miracle comeback by Valor Christian. He had a whopping 19 tackles against Pomona and 10 or more in five games overall. In the classroom, he has excelled with a 4.33 grade point average with a savory AP class schedule (calculus and micro-economics among others), all while also participating on the student-athlete advisory committee. He received just two "B's" in high school, but converted both into A's by the end of that year, and his test scores are in the upper percentiles (29 on the ACT, for instance). Outside of school he is active in the community, assisting with the Rocky Mountain Food Bank, raising money for the underprivileged for holiday meals, volunteering at the Ronald McDonald House and participating in the Race for the Cure. Mike will attend Princeton University where he will play lacrosse.

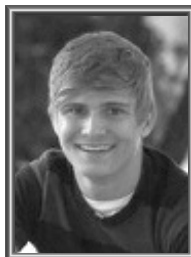

Josh Odom, Pine Creek

The 4A player of the year in Colorado (CHSAA), he earned first-team all-state (Denver Post) honors and was the Colorado Springs Gazette's 5A-4A Peak Performer of the Year. He averaged 8.7 yards per carry in rushing for 2,239 yards (second in the state) and 35 touchdowns, gaining 100 yards in 12 of 14 games as a senior; he had a career-high in the state title game against Longmont, rushing for 284 yards and two scores in the Eagles 45-20 win. A three-year letterman, he played primarily on defense as a junior and racked up 90 tackles, six for losses with three quarterback sacks, a pass broken up and a fumble recovery. He helped coach Todd Miller's team reel off 25 straight wins to close his career, as Pine Creek won back-to-back state 4A titles. A member of PCHS' rugby team, he was a member of its state champion team in 2013. A two-time Academic All-State team member with a 3.53 grade point average at Pine Creek, he will attend the Colorado School of Mines to continue his football career.

Kevin Ribarich, Pueblo East

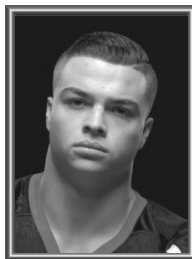

He has the top grade point average of this year's NFF Scholar-Athlete class – a 4.59 (on a 4.0 scale), earning seven different academic awards during his time at Pueblo East. A standout three-sport performer (football, basketball, baseball), he was an integral force in leading coach David Ramirez' team to an 11-3 record as a senior, with PEHS claiming the South Central League title and its first 3A championship. He caught 64 passes for 1,256 yards and eight touchdowns, earning all-state and league MVP honors, and on defense, he was in on 54 tackles and was among the state's leaders in interceptions with seven, two of which he returned for scores. He also scored TD's rushing and via punt return for 12 total. He caught 29 passes for 386 yards and three touchdowns with 43 tackles and five interceptions as a junior. He is active in the local DECA Chapter (preparing high schoolers for college). From an athletic family (his father Michael wrestled for the Colorado School of Mines), he will continue his football career in his hometown at Colorado State University-Pueblo.

2014 Scholar-Athletes

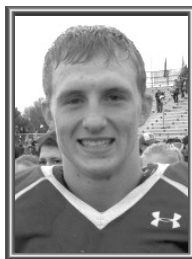

Michael Rocha, Montrose

An All-Colorado team member as selected by the Denver Post, Michael was the main cog in a Montrose rushing machine that averaged 357 yards per game. Under coach Todd Casebier, the Indians claimed the Foothills League title in compiling a 10-2 record, with Rocha gaining 1,916 yards on the ground, averaging 6.3 yards per carry with 30 touchdowns. He ran for over 100 yards on 10 occasions, with three games over 200, his best against Durango when he had 249 yards and six TDs while averaging 8.6 per rush in a 44-27 win. He also caught five passes for 102 yards to enable him to pass 2,000 yards gained from scrimmage. He gained 4,094 yards in his career, crossing the goal line a total of 67 times; he did most of this from his fullback position, as he had unique speed for a 5-11, 220-pound back. In addition to his football accolades, he is active in his community and owns a 3.9 grade point average; he is undecided on his college choice.

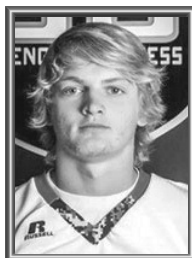

Kyle Rosenbrock, Brush

He earned 2A all-state honors from the Denver Post, which also named him the 2A State Player of the Year; he was also named honorable mention on the American Family Insurance All-USA Colorado team. He was a central figure in Brush's 2A state title his senior year (Brush's first in 20 years) and back-to-back Patriot League titles under coach Randy Dreitz. He rushed for just under 2,000 yards and passed for 1,400 in accounting for 44 touchdowns overall; he also led the team on defense with 110 tackles and three interceptions. He gained 100 or more yards in 11 games, highlighted by 243 yards and five scores on just 20 carries in a win over Glenwood Springs. In the first round of the state playoffs, he ran for three scores (covering 69, 59 and 77 yards) and threw for another in a 49-7 win over Moffat County. He ran for over 4,400 yards as a prep, threw for nearly 2,500 and accounted for 103 touchdowns. A four-sport letterman (baseball, basketball, football, wrestling), he still found the time to earn a perfect 4.0 grade point average. He will continue his football career at Division II national champion Colorado State University-Pueblo, where an older brother (Joe) is a senior linebacker (and was a CC/NFF Scholar-Athlete in 2010).

Andrew Wingard, Ralston Valley

Andrew was selected as the 2014 Gatorade Player of the Year for the state of Colorado, and was named to the 2014 All-Colorado Team as a running back by the Denver Post (the All-Colorado team consisted of the Top 32 players in the state of Colorado in 2014, and included all classifications). He also earned first-team All-State 5A honors at running back from Denver Post his senior season, when he rolled up 1,653 yards rushing with 28 touchdowns, averaging 8.7 yards per carry on 190 attempts. He added 37 receptions for 393 yards with five more scores, and on defense, he recorded 96 tackles (52 solo), with three interceptions, two forced fumbles and two recoveries. He also had a combined 649 return yards (punt and kickoff) and scored four more times in that fashion. Ralston Valley won the Jeffco League title and finished the year with a 12-1 record under Matt Loyd. He has a 3.4 grade point average in high school, is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (he coaches youth football and basketball), and will continue his football career at the University of Wyoming.

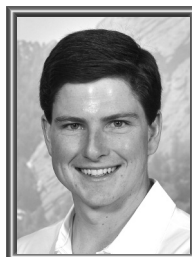

2014 Collegiate Student Athlete-of-the-Year

The Colorado Chapter stepped up its acknowledgement of the academic achievements by those student-athletes representing the 10 collegiate teams in the state by creating the Academic All-Colorado team and the student athlete of the year honor, beginning with the 2014 season. The entire chapter board voted for three finalists, with the recipient, Will Oliver, emerging from that group that had an average GPA of 3.56.

Will Oliver, Colorado

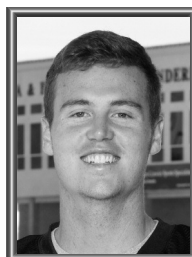

PK, Sr., 3.76 GPA/Business (Finance; undergraduate degree; also earning his Master's in Accounting, a five-year program in four years)... three-time All-Academic Pac-12 ... honorable mention All-Pac-12 placekicker as a senior ... Led Colorado in scoring with 90 points in becoming the first player in CU history to lead the team in scoring four straight seasons ... He made good on 92 percent of his kicks (42-of-42 PAT, 16-of-21 FG) ... At one point, he made nine consecutive field goals, tied for the second-longest streak in school history, and made the last 102 PAT kicks of his career to set the CU record ... He finished his CU career second all-time in both scoring and kick scoring (279 points), second in field goals made (50) and attempts (69) and first in both extra points made (127) and attempted (129).

Finalists

Chris Bonner, CSU-Pueblo

QB, Sr., 3.57 GPA/Business ... A Harlon Hill Award candidate (top Division II player) and All-America selection for the Pack in 2013 ... Quarterbacked the ThunderWolves to a 2014 NCAA Division II National Championship ... In two seasons and 27 games with CSU-Pueblo, the San Diego, Calif., native went 483-for-835 (57.8%) for 6,704 yards and 63 touchdowns ... He only threw 17 interceptions and posted a 146.11 efficiency rating ... Following the 2014 season he was invited to participate in the Medal of Honor Bowl, where he led a scoring drive ... He was selected to the Beyond Sports Network All-Super Region Four Third Team in 2014.

Richie Rice, Colorado Mines

OL, Soph., 3.83 GPA/Petroleum Engineering ... A 2014 Capital One Second Team Academic All-American and First Team Academic All-District performer, Rice aided Colorado Mines to No. 1 in Division II in first downs (350), No. 2 in passing (378.3 ypg), No. 4 in total offense (522.5 ypg), No. 12 in completion percentage (.647), No. 17 in scoring (39.0 ppg) and No. 28 in passing efficiency (145.05) as the starting center ... Rice is a two-time RMAC All-Academic honoree, earning First Team accolades in 2013 and 2014.

Other Nominees

Austin Ekeler, Western State Colorado University
Treyous Jarrells, Colorado State
Derek Mathiason, Adams State
Dustin Rivas, Colorado Mesa
Andrew Ruechel, Air Force
Dimitri Stimphil, Northern Colorado

ARC Thrift Stores NFF Colorado Chapter Award Winners

The following award winners were selected in a vote by area board members as the Colorado Chapter of the National Football Foundation collegiate award winners for 2014 season.

Jim McElwain, Colorado State Collegiate Coach of the Year

The 2014 Mountain West Coach of the Year, he led the Rams to their first nationally ranking (AP/Coaches) since 2003 as the Rams set 17 school records (single-game and season). McElwain helped build one of the most dangerous offensive units in the country. Behind quarterback Garrett Grayson and Biletnikoff finalist Rashard Higgins, the Rams averaged 481 yards per game on offense, second in the Mountain West and 18th nationally. Colorado State was the first Mountain West program since BYU in 2008 to produce a 3,500-yard passer (Grayson, 4006), 1,500-yard receiver (Higgins, 1,750) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Dee Hart, 1,275). CSU was 10-2 under McElwain and earned a bid to the Las Vegas Bowl against Utah, but he left to take the head coach position at the University of Florida prior to the game.

Garrett Grayson, Colorado State Offensive Player of the Year

QB, 6-2, 220, Sr., Vancouver, Wash. (Heritage)
The Mountain West Offensive Player of the Year, Garrett Grayson started all 13 games in leading CSU to a 10-3 record, finishing fifth nationally in quarterback efficiency rating with a 166.2 mark. He completed 270-of-420 passes for 4,006 yards and 32 touchdowns, while throwing just seven interceptions (the TDs and the 64.3 completion percentage set CSU records). He was fourth nationally in passing yards, setting a CSU single-season record in the process, and threw for over 400 yards twice to claim two of the top four passing games in school history. He holds the top spot in every major CSU career passing category: yards, touchdowns, completions, attempts and completion percentage. Grayson played in the Senior Bowl and East-West Shrine Game and is considered one of the top quarterback prospects in the 2015 NFL Draft.

Darius Allen, CSU-Pueblo Defensive Player of the Year

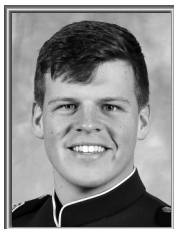

DE, 6-4, 250, Sr., Pueblo, Colo. (Pueblo East)

The second defender to earn CC/NFF player of the year honors twice, he is also a two-time Gene Upshaw Award winner as the top lineman in Division II, in addition to being the 2014 Daktronics Ron Lenz

Defensive Player of the Year and a two-time Super Region Four Defensive Player of the Year. He recorded 72 tackles as a senior, 39 solo, with 23 of those for losses totaling 101 yards including 15½ quarterback sacks. He also had five forced fumbles (15th in NCAA Division II) and recovered three, along with 14 quarterback hurries and a pass broken up in recording five or more tackles in 10 games. Allen led a ThunderWolves defense that ranked first nationally in scoring defense (12.8 ppg) and turnovers forced (43), along with being in the top 10 in eight major categories.

Will Conant, Air Force Special Teams Player of the Year

PK/P, 6-2, 215, Sr., Edmond, Okla. (Memorial)

A semifinalist for the Lou Groza Award, he was the 2014 Mountain West Conference Special Teams Player of the Year (the first-team all-MW placekicker), the first AFA player of the year award winner since 2007 (Chad Hall, offense). He is just the second Falcon to earn special teams player of the year honors, joining Chris MacInnis (1993), and only the fifth kicker in the conference to earn the honor. As a senior, he made 19 of 21 field goals, including a school record 18 straight from 60 yards or less, and 45 extra points. He led the conference in field goals made per game (1.50) and in field goal percentage (90.5), which was 10th in the nation; he was twice honored as the MW special teams player of the week. He made 5-of-7 fields goals from 50 yards or longer in his career (and was 22-of-23 inside 40 yards). He also ranked second in the conference in punting with a 43.6 average, with 13 punts of 50 yards or longer and 21 downed inside the 20.

2014 CC/NFF Special Awards

Keith Jensen & Barbara Lucey

Joe Kearney Service Award (contributions to the sport of football)

Keith Jensen first became involved with the Colorado Chapter of The National Football Foundation as Athletics Director at Jefferson High School, when he was presented with the opportunity to bring the Play It Smart program to the school. It was one of 12 programs offered nationwide in the initial roll out by the National Football Foundation. After retiring from Jefferson County Schools in 2003, the Colorado Chapter was in need of an Executive Director, and Keith stepped up. With the assistance of his wife, Barbara Lucey, they directed the Colorado Chapter for the next 10 years. With the downturn of the economy, sponsorships didn't renew, and it was difficult financially, but they kept the program afloat and were able to organize an annual banquet to honor some of Colorado's top scholar athletes during those 10 years. Now retired in the Tucson area, they remain members of the Chapter they nurtured as their hearts are still in Colorado.

Mike Contreras

John Adams Officiating Award (overall contributions to the officiating profession)

A native of Northern Colorado, Mike Contreras graduated from Windsor High School, and served in the United States Army from 1970 to 1978. Mike began officiating in 1970 and continued to do so while in the military, officiating American high school football and the United States Air Force Football League while serving in Nuernburg, Germany. In 1978, Mike began officiating high school football in Colorado, and was selected to work five state championship as well as numerous playoff games. His first two state title games were officiated one week apart in the 1987 postseason. Mike officiated NCAA Division II football for 12 years from 1991 to 2003 in the North Central Conference and the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, working four first round playoff games. He will begin his 13th season in NCAA Division I football this coming fall, as he was hired by the Mountain West Conference in 2003 and has also officiated in the Big 12 and Southland conferences. He has officiated in the 2006 Cotton Bowl and the 2011 Sheraton Hawaii Bowl during his career as well. Along with mentoring young officials in the Denver area, later this spring will be the second year Mike will be a Football Official Mentor at the Stars & Stripes Academy in Salt Lake City, Utah (May 14-17). Mike, and his wife of 34 years, Helen, have four children Remmy, Cheri (Ron), Andres, Michael (Amanda), and have been blessed with eight grandchildren. Mike was a Wholesale Markets Billing Analyst with Qwest Communications, and both he and Helen are both retirees of Qwest after 31 years each of enjoyable employment.

Dave Logan

Jim Turner Award (service to Colorado youth football)

This year's selection for the Jim Turner Award was an easy if not overdue choice, as Dave Logan has been a name synonymous with success since his days as a three-sport star at Wheat Ridge High School. Drafted by the Cincinnati Reds in 1972, he opted to attend the University of Colorado, where he was the last true major two-sport performer (earning eight letters in football and basketball). An All-American receiver for the Buffaloes, he was a third round selection by Cleveland in the 1976 NFL Draft and a ninth round pick by the Kansas City Kings in the '76 NBA Draft; he opted for the gridiron. In 119 games in the pros, he caught 263 passes for 4,250 yards and 24 touchdowns, averaging a healthy 16.2 yards per reception. After a stellar 8-year career with the Browns, in 1984 he returned to Colorado and Denver where he finished his NFL career with his hometown Broncos. Since his retirement from the game, he entered the broadcasting business, practically pioneering sports talk in Denver, handling color analyst duties first on television for CU football games and then for KOA for the Broncos. He took over the role of play-by-play for the Broncos in 1997, as has been the voice of the team since. Along the way, he also engaged his other passion – coaching youth – and soon emerged as one of the most successful high school coaches in the country, the only one to win state championships at four different schools (Arvada West, Chatfield, Mullen and most recently, Cherry Creek), winning seven titles in all. A three-time sportscaster of the year in Colorado, along with Dave Winfield, he is the only athlete to be drafted by three different professional sports leagues; he has been inducted into four sport Hall of Fames: Colorado, University of Colorado Athletic, CHSAA and Jefferson County Athletics. And as if he didn't already have enough to do, in 2009, he launched TeamDaveLogan.com, a web-based consumer referral network of home improvement providers.

Sarah Meier

Colorado Chapter Award (service on behalf of the Colorado NFF chapter)

Sarah Meier is completing her second year of her second stint as the sports information director at Fort Lewis College, but she just finished her 12th year of serving as the media coordinator for the Colorado Chapter/NFF collegiate player-of-the-week and All-Colorado football team programs. She has handled that chore on the side of her full-time positions at FLC and as an associate commissioner for media relations with the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. The compilation of both can be quite laborious, yet she has worked diligently to help the chapter and the student-athletes from the 10 Colorado colleges gain increased exposure. Among the recognitions she's received for her work are the College Sports Information Directors of America Rising Star Award and the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators Judith M. Sweet Commitment Award. Sarah is a graduate of St. Cloud State University, is married (Nathan) and is the mother of three children: Luke, Hannah and Matthew.

College Football Hall of Fame

The College Football Hall of Fame, which was started in 1951 with 54 inaugural inductees as a temple of great college football men, is the creation and ongoing commitment of the National Football Foundation. The world-class museum in Atlanta, Ga., has now inducted 934 players and 200 coaches whose careers have exemplified the Foundation's basic creed of scholarship, citizenship and performance. The players and coaches inducted annually to the College Football Hall of Fame exemplify the Foundation's standards of excellence and were selected from the nearly five million to have played the game.
