EarthBend Celebrates New Office in Brookings, South Dakota with Ribbon Cutting

Sioux Falls, SD - 4/24/2015: EarthBend, a leading provider of technology solutions in the US & Canada announced today that they are opening a new office in Brookings, South Dakota. The new office, located in the Research Park at South Dakota State University, will be the companies 3rd office. The new location will enable EarthBend to support existing local businesses with local resources. They will be hosting a Ribbon Cutting today, Thursday April 24th at 4pm with the Brookings Chamber of Commerce.

"The opening of EarthBend's new Brookings location is an important step in providing local support to Brookings based businesses and partnering with South Dakota State University. Said CEO Rob Beyer. "The new office will be the first of many important changes for our company in 2015."

The company has future plans to partner with South Dakota State University students to expand their service and support offerings. EarthBend will be hosting seminars, trainings and networking events at the Research Park on a regular basis with the first event scheduled for next month featuring experts in IT security, in addition to providing local support for customers.
