

American Welding Society

MEDIA CONTACT:

Charles Gaiennie
American Welding Society
985-262-4634
cgaiennie@wlgaiennie.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

American Welding Society's Strengthens Its Commitment to Mexico and Central America through WELDMEX Partnership
AWS' international role expands at May 5-7 event

Miami, Fla., April 30, 2015 – The American Welding Society, AWS, will once again bring focus to the growing manufacturing economy of Mexico and Central America with its sponsorship of WELDMEX, May 5 – 7 in Monterrey, Mexico. Under the leadership of AWS, WELDMEX has become one of the most important venues in the region for businesses tied to the metal forming, fabricating, welding and finishing industries to connect and grow. Some 450 exhibiting companies are expected to meet with the 10,000 attendees from Mexico and Central America markets making it one of the largest events of its kind in the region.

According to AWS, director of marketing, Lorena Cora, “WELDMEX is an example of the truly global focus of AWS and of our special emphasis on growing markets like Mexico and Central America. Mexico’s low overhead costs and high quality labor, ranks it as one of the fastest growing manufacturing markets in the world and is expected to represent the world’s eighth largest G.D.P within the next 30 years.”

Complete information about WELDMEX can be found online at www.fabtechmexico.com or by calling Lorena Cora at 305-443-9353 extension 417.

About AWS

The American Welding Society (AWS) was founded in 1919 as a multifaceted, nonprofit organization with a mission to advance the science, technology and application of welding and allied joining and cutting process worldwide, including brazing, soldering, and thermal spraying. Headquartered in Miami, Florida, and led by a volunteer organization of officers and directors, AWS serves over 70,000 members worldwide and is composed of 22 Districts with 250 Sections and student chapters. For more information, visit the society's website at <http://www.aws.org> and click on "Pressroom."

About AWS

The American Welding Society (AWS) was founded in 1919 as a multifaceted, nonprofit organization with a mission to advance the science, technology and application of welding and allied joining and cutting processes worldwide, including brazing, soldering, and thermal spraying. Headquartered in Miami, Florida, and led by a volunteer organization of officers and directors, AWS serves more than 70,000 members worldwide and is composed of 22 Districts with 250 Sections and student chapters. For more information, visit the society's website at <http://www.aws.org> and click on "Pressroom."