The American Association of Orthodontists recommends children receive their first orthodontic consultation by age seven to spot any problems with jaw growth and emerging teeth. However, orthodontics aren't just for kids anymore. One in five orthodontic patients is an adult.

"I love creating smiles that my patients are proud of," said Dr. Valderrama. "Having a straight smile boosts self-confidence, and I love seeing the transformation my patients go through as their smiles become healthy and beautiful. It all begins with a simple phone call to set up the consultation."

Dr. Valderrama coordinates orthodontic care with both Coast Dental and non-Coast Dental general dentists and is accepting new patients at these three locations:
