

PRESS RELEASE

Industry Veteran Anthony Stevens joins EVENTEQ As Executive Vice President, Sales and Marketing

COLUMBIA, MD, AUGUST 17, 2015 - EVENTEQ, an Inc. 5000 fastest growing provider of audio, lighting, video and scenic services to the corporate and association event market, today announced Anthony Stevens has joined the firm as Executive Vice President, Sales and Marketing. Stevens has over 20 years of experience as an authority on building and managing world class sales and marketing strategies and teams for some of the biggest names in the Rental and Staging industry.

Throughout his career, Stevens has built and managed successful account teams and consistently delivered results by connecting clients to the capabilities they need to reach their goals - whether they are elevating a brand, enhancing audience engagement or pulling off something truly spectacular.

"We have always believed that having state of the art technology and best of breed engineers only levels the playing field and that our ability to use these capabilities to help our clients influence the emotions of their constituents is what sets us apart," said Brijinder (BJ) Singh, Managing Partner, EVENTEQ. "Anthony is not only a skilled and experienced Sales and Marketing executive but also deeply understands that everything begins and ends with people - whether its our employees, vendors or clients. We are poised and ready to serve large national clients and are thrilled to have Anthony on board to deliver our compelling message to the industry."

Before joining EVENTEQ, Stevens was Vice President of Global Sales at AV Concepts - a national provider of audio-visual services to experiential marketing agencies and production partners. In his role Stevens oversaw all aspects of AV Concepts' strategic growth through leading the Sales and Account Management teams as well as building direct relationships with key corporations, production companies and agencies. Prior to AV Concepts, Stevens spent 16 years at Swank Audio Visuals and quickly rose through the ranks to National Director of Event Sales - a role he served in for 5 years before joining AV Concepts. Stevens is and will continue to be based in Scottsdale, AZ.

About EVENTEQ

EVENTEQ, established in 2007, is a fast growing national provider of event rental and staging services to the experiential marketing, event production, corporate and association markets. EVENTEQ has been recognized as an Inc. 5000 fastest growing company and was recognized as a "Future 50 Company to Watch" by SmartCEO magazine. EVENTEQ's purpose is to help influence the emotions of our client's audience through engaging, creative and sustainable event production. This philosophy is induced into how we engage the audience and how we interact with our clients, vendors and each other. It defines who we are as a company and who we are as people. For more information, please visit eventeq.com.