Following LA's premiere 'Street' edition, the fair will travel internationally, popping up in major cities where the street art movement is alive.

L.A. and street art go hand in hand, the murals of the City of Angels are nearly endless. It was in Los Angeles' Museum of Contemporary Art (MOCA) that Jeffrey Deitch curated "Art in the Streets," the first major museum exhibition dedicated to the art form. Street takes the movement next-level, with this massive convergence of over 10,000 art aficionados and influencers daily to come together to view and buy work from the most sought-after artists and galleries of today.

Spanning over 40,000 square feet of space, 'Street' will showcase installations by over 50 leading international galleries and artists from the graffiti and street art community, including Alec Monopoly, Mr. Brainwash, Risk, Odlaw, Mr. E., Greg Auerbach, Louis XXX, Clinton Bob, Annie Preece, MONCHO 1929 among many other talents. Street's exhibition will emphasize and celebrate Los Angeles's role in the evolution of graffiti and street art, with special brand partnerships, performances, Symposiums and Seminars regarding the emergence of this social movement in today's main stream art scene, and art installations.

Street will host a series of events for VIP members, including private performances, exclusive parties, brunches and cocktail events. Street opens on Thursday October 1st with the private preview. The goal of Street to provide a venue for creators of quality fine art and fine craft to meet with the art-buying public.

Street is the brainchild of well know artist, designer and international entrepreneur Jeff Hamilton; Street Art industry leader, LAB ART gallery owner, and curator, Iskander Lemseffer; and the management team under the leadership of Christopher Andreoli.
