CapTech's Summer Internship Program provides meaningful immersion into the full lifecycle of a typical IT consulting project. This twelve-week program was designed to help interns fully experience the many roles consultants play in everyday projects such as analysis, design, development and deployment of a tool or solution. Our interns work in self-led teams and are paired with senior consultants for evaluation and mentorship. Additionally interns enjoy weekly lunch-and-learns with our Principals and leadership team. What makes this internship program so unique is the simulated client engagement where interns can achieve a full understanding of the consulting experience while solving a relevant client problem. CapTech interns are given the opportunity to build something that matters with project deliverables that actually create impactful value at CapTech.

Vault surveyed over 5,800 current and former interns to compile their results. Vault is a comprehensive resource for employer, university and internship program rankings, ratings and insights. Vault provides information on employers, industries, interviews and internships.
