Paul Caiazzo Joins Science and Technology Policy Center For Development as Advisory Board Member

TruShield Principal and Chief Security Architect brings world class cyber security and business expertise to Washington, D.C. based non-profit.

Dulles, VA (January 13th, 2016): TruShield Security Solutions, Inc. is proud to announce that its Principal and Chief Security Architect, Paul Caiazzo, has joined the Science and Technology Policy Center For Development's (www.stpcd.org) Advisory Board.

Mr. Caiazzo's experience designing and leading national-scale technology and cyber security programs in multiple countries throughout the world will prove to be invaluable towards helping STPCD achieve its mission and vision.

"STPCD will benefit tremendously from Paul's wealth of knowledge and expertise in tackling cyber security challenges in developing nations, particularly in Africa" says STPCD's President and CEO, Nnake Nweke.

Paul Caiazzo adds "I'm honored to join the Science and Technology Policy Center for Development's Advisory Board. The work STPCD is doing is improving the lives of countless people in Africa, and as an advisor on cyber security, I'm looking forward to making an impact there. Access to information is the developing world's single greatest socio-economic equalizer, and I look forward to being part of ensuring these gains are realized safely and securely."

By working together, Mr. Caiazzo and STPCD aim to further the organization's mission and vision of advancing knowledge and assisting in the development and implementation of robust comprehensive science and technology policies that address and achieve sustained economic growth in developing countries.
