Magilla connects business borrowers with traditional, FDIC-insured banks for loans in a simple, fast, and more efficient manner.

A borrower, or his advisor, fills out only ten questions and submits a loan request whether for real estate, tenant improvements, medical equipment, or any other type of business loan. Meanwhile, on the other side of the platform, banks preset the type of loans they are seeking. When there is a match, the borrower receives an easy-to-read chart that shows the banks' offers in a clear, concise manner. The days of visiting multiple banks and analyzing conflicting term sheets is over.

The borrower is in total control.

Magilla NEVER collects any confidential information. When a borrower chooses to work with a bank, they simply accept a lender's response and their information is exchanged.

Magilla streamlines the business loan process, making it easier and faster for both the borrower and bank to do business.

Magilla is completely free for the business owner.
