D3 Security Appoints Industry Veteran David Feeney, CPP, to Vice President

Accredited security management expert leads D3 Security's customer success programs

Vancouver, BC, February 24, 2016 – D3 Security, the leader in integrated security and incident response software, today announced that David R. Feeney has been appointed Vice President of Professional Services. In this position Mr. Feeney will be responsible for developing and overseeing D3 Security's customer success programs, including system implementations, professional services, and major strategic proposals.

Effective immediately, Mr. Feeney will direct D3 Security's customer success and business analysis team, with a mandate to deliver high quality implementations and strong customer relationships. In addition, he is tasked with growing the services and technical solutions offered by D3's industry-aligned practice groups, and contributing to the ongoing development of D3's cyber incident response platform, SIEM and threat intelligence hub, and library of incident response playbooks.

"Our customers count on D3 software to respond to incidents, enforce standard operating procedures and reduce risk," said Gordon Benoit, President, D3 Security. "David's deep IT and security expertise enables him to see the whole picture of risk at a customer organization, present findings to their executives, and demonstrate how to solve business problems using D3's integrated and configurable platform."

Mr. Feeney most recently held a leadership position with AlliedBarton Security Services, where he created and implemented AlliedBarton's Integrated Solutions and Strategic Partnership Program, which include the D3 Integrated Security and Incident Response Platform. Prior to AlliedBarton, Mr. Feeney consulted Fortune 500 organizations on implementing security information systems and developing security operations centers (SOCs), including for companies in the energy, healthcare, technology and real estate industries.

"I'm grateful for a wealth of experience overseeing hundreds of D3 implementations at Fortune 500 organizations and across AlliedBarton's customer base," said Feeney. "The result is a fluent familiarity with D3, including cross-vertical IT security challenges and best practices for maximizing the impact and value of the D3 platform."
