

About Hosts

About Bruce Hooley

In 2010, Bruce Hooley accepted the offer to host the afternoon drive on ESPN 850 WKNR and has had the title since. He is one of the most awarded and talented sports reporters, as well as, one of the most recognizable and credible voices on sports topics in Ohio.

After starting a successful career with the The Plain Dealer in Cleveland, Bruce transitioned to television and radio in 2005. He hosted a top-rated sports show in Columbus on 97.1 The Fan until 2010.

In 2014, Bruce earned his own regional sports commentary show, #Hooley, on Time Warner Sports Channel.

He is the author of two books on Ohio State athletics and also co-authored That's Why I'm Here: The Chris and Stephanie Spielman Story. Hooley is also the lead columnist on ESPNCleveland.com.

About Shawn Ireland

Shawn Ireland has been a fixture on the radio and television in Central Ohio for over 29 years, some call that longevity, or as she says, “just plain dumb”.

Aside from a stint in San Diego, at an all-female morning show, she has spent most of her career waking up the sleepy-eyed faithful in Central Ohio. Shawn is the co-host of the Shawn Ireland Show with Kate Burdett, a syndicated radio show, as well as co-host on “Good Day Columbus” on FOX 28 each morning from 8 a.m.-10 a.m., and Good Day Marketplace on FOX 28 at 10 a.m.

In her spare time, she devotes her time to women’s and children’s causes in Central Ohio, and is passionate about her signature self-esteem program for middle school girls called, Beauty’s On The Inside.